Man hanged in cell

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Staff writer

MADISON — Arrested on a domestic violence charge and facing divorce Wednesday, a 32-year-old Madison man apparently hanged himself in a city jail cell between 3:50 p.m. and 4:42 p.m. Tuesday.

Clifford Leroy Robinson, 1234 Madison Ave., Apt. 8, did not appear despondent following his arrest at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday or when he was last talked with during a routine cell check about 3:50 p.m., Police Chief Charles Bridick said Wednesday.

Bridick said Robinson's shirt was tied at one end around an upper cell support. If Robinson had acted suicidal he would have been stripped to his shorts, Bridick said.

Adding to the appearance that Robinson was not upset was that he had called his mother, Stefanie Smith, O'Fallon, and she was on her way to Madison to bail him out, Bridick said.

There were no other prisoners at the time of the hanging, Bridick said.

Bridick said that recently he had been thinking about, with recent hangings in area jail cells, Madison had been fortunate to have never had one. Cells are checked every 45 minutes to an hour, he said.

Robinson was married to Lisa Robinson, 1824 Edwardsville Road. He was a checker for the National Food Store in Granite City.

Diak case goes back to board

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The Granite City Board of Fire and Police Commissioners will hear the case, and consider the possible dismissal, of Patrolman George Diak Jr., suspended for allegedly making an unauthorized on-duty trip to Jersey County.

A restraining order preventing the board from holding the hearing was withdrawn Tuesday. At the same time, an enforcement order for an alleged settlement with the city was denied by the Madison County Circuit Court by Chief Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson.

Ferguson ruled that no valid settlement had been made and that the case remained before the board.

The board has scheduled the new hearing for June 20, President Leland Ambuehl said.

Greg Becker, Diak's attorney, contended a settlement in the case was reached May 5 with Assistant City Attorney John Hopkins, that Hopkins had been authorized to make the settlement by Mayor Von Dee Cruse, and that though the written settlement was never signed it represented a binding oral contract.

The city contended only Police Chief Bob Astorian had authority in the case. Becker and Hopkins were witnesses at the hearing, so Diak was represented by Ron Motil and Granite City by Ed Fitzhenry. The board was represented by Tom Hildebrand.

Ferguson, rendering his decision, said he had not heard any thing that convinced him the mayor had the authority to settle a case already brought before the board.

"Obviously, the scheme of discipline runs from the subordinates to the chief of police to the board," he said. "Nowhere in that given scheme is the name of the mayor mentioned."

Ferguson said that, even if there was authority to settle, a valid settlement had not been reached.

He said it was the responsibility of anyone dealing with a city to know the power and authority of the person with whom he is dealing. Ferguson said it was obvious from the mayor's testimony that Cruse never intended to settle without the chief of police agreeing, and that Asto

Foreign exchange students desire to join in graduation

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

GRANITE CITY — Foreign exchange students should be given honorary degrees at the high school commencement ceremony, a spokeswoman for the American-Scandinavian Student Exchange said. Barbara Reuter, Granite City, ASSE representative for Southwest Illinois, said students in the program spend a year as seniors and want to complete the experience by being involved at graduation.

Reuter said Sven Peperkorn, 17, Frankfurt, West Germany, should have been allowed to participate in the Class of 1988 commencement. District 9 administrators told Peperkorn he could not participate in the May 27 ceremony because Peperkorn did not complete graduation requirements in Granite City.

Peperkorn is not the first ASSE student kept from the ceremony. Former foreign exchange student John-Eric Ohlsson felt "very disappointed" when he was denied participation in 1987, his Granite City sponsor, Kathleen Sues, said. In 1985, Essa Tamminen, an ASSE exchange student from Finland, was also turned down, Reuter said.

Tamminen, Ohlsson and Peperkorn were each told District 9 policy restricts graduation activities to those who've earned credits in Granite City.

Walmsley: Salaries still low compared to others

GRANITE CITY — District 9 administrators are among the lowest paid in Madison County, Superintendent Gib Walmsley said.

Walmsley and other Granite City administrators recently received raises totaling nearly $18,000.

But even with the increase, Walmsley said, the district's administrative salary scale is lower than Collinsville's, Edwardsville's and Alton's — though Granite City has more students than any of those districts.

District 9's scale tops out at $47,900, Alton's at $50,033, Collinsville's at $51,570 and Edwardsville's at $54,616, Walmsley said.

Walmsley is the lowest paid superintendent in the four districts. With a recent raise of $3,000, he now earns $58,000 per year. In Collinsville, the superintendent's salary is $65,000. In Alton it is $68,500, and in Edwardsville it is $70,000.

With an enrollment of 8,750, District 9 is the largest school district in Southern Illinois, and one of the 15 largest in the state.

GRANITE CITY — Petitions bearing some 4,400 signatures will tell the Belleville Area College Board that it's time for a change in representation.

State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, said Tuesday that more than double the signatures needed to put an election referendum on the Nov. 8 ballot will be submitted at the board's meeting Wednesday. About half the signatures came from St. Clair County, and the rest come from the other seven counties in the district, Wolf said.

The referendum will ask voters if they want to keep the current at-large election system or change to electing board members from subdistricts.

Critics of the at-large system have stated only Belleville-area residents get elected to the board. The seven-member board consists entirely of members living in St. Clair County, in and near Belleville.

Some board members have stated they did not think board members should represent particular parts of the district.

Wolf said public response to the petitions was encouraging.

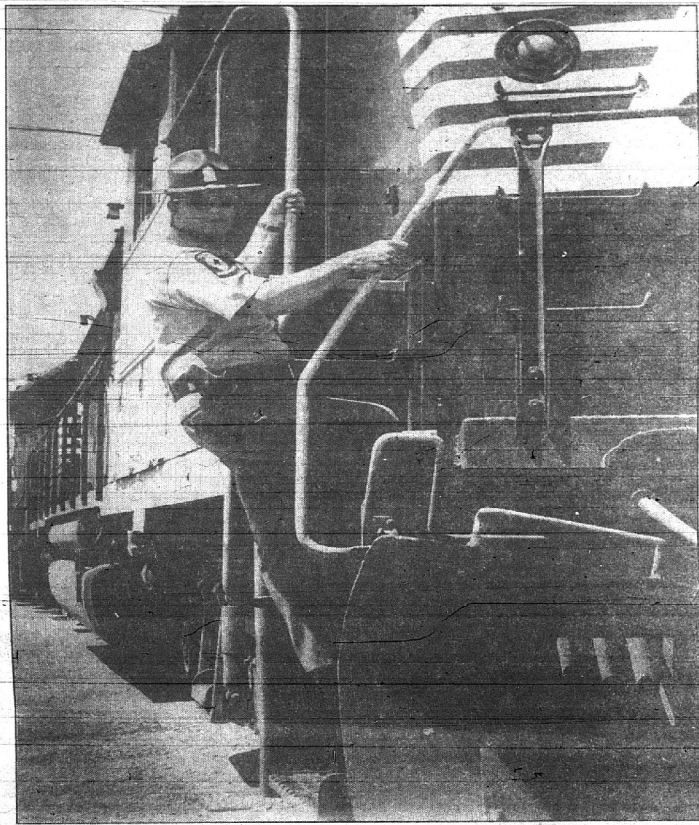

"Very approving is the word. They agreed that the step should be taken," Wolf said.

Wolf said his purpose in beginning the petition drive, and sponsoring the legislation that allowed it, was to bring direct representation to a greater area of the eight-county district. Gov. James Thompson signed legislation Sept. 24 to allow voters in the BAC district to determine if they want to keep or drop the at-large system.

Wolf said he expects the board will agree to put the measure on the November ballot.

"This is in accordance with a public act that requires them to do it," Wolf said. "I would hope that they would accept the petitions in the proper spirit."

If approved Nov. 8, the referendum would allow the first elections from subdistricts to be scheduled. The elections from subdistricts would occur in November 1989, beginning a transition period that would result in at-large members being phased out.

Train dodgers beware — state troopers riding rails

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — Illinois State Police Sgt. David Jung looked down at the white gravel in the stark sunlight, then up at the train engine.

KMOV Channel 4 broadcaster Herb Humphries fanned himself, waiting to get on.

The conductor squinted.

Newspaper photographers gathered around the train, waiting for Jung to board. They wanted his photo and he wanted them to have it.

Jung, of Mascoutah, climbed halfway up the metal ladder on the side of the engine, posed, climbed to the top, posed, and then went halfway down for another round of photos before getting into the cab.

"It's going to be hot in there," Jung told the conductor, Glenn Siesonen, Decatur.

Siesonen nodded, but said he was glad to see Jung even if it would be in sardine-style quarters. Jung was along to nab train dodgers.

"You should have been with us between here and Wentzville (Mo.). You'd have picked them off left and right," Siesonen said.

Humphries, a KMOV cameraman, Jung, Siesonen and others stuffed themselves into the train's cab to make the run from the Norfolk and Southern Railroad terminal on Hall Street in St. Louis. From Hall Street, the train crossed the Merchants Bridge over the Mississippi River and passed through Venice, Madison, Granite City, Mitchell and Edwardsville en route to Decatur.

At the Granite City tracks at Niedringhaus Avenue, near the entrance of the Fox Industries warehouse, a patrol car waited. As occurred elsewhere along the way, Granite City police were ready in case Jung called to say a car had illegally tried to cross the tracks while the signals were down.

Drawing near to the intersection, the train's horn boomed, the crossing lights flashed and the gate began moving. Two cars, in motion before the signal started, bounced over the tracks.

Had they not been in progress before the signal started, the car operators would likely have received $50 traffic tickets, courtesy of the "Trooper on a Train" program.

The program's purpose is to reduce traffic fatalities at railroad crossings. Initiated by the Norfolk and Western Railway Co., which has trains traveling through St. Clair and Madison counties, the program works by allowing a state police trooper to ride the rails on NW engines. When the trooper spots someone trying to dodge a train, he calls local police agencies.

Wolf to present BAC election petitions to board

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

Grads

Foreign students can't participate

However, Reuter said that an ASSE student from Sweden, Inger Gustafsson, was allowed to participate in the 1983 commencement. A graduation list printed in the Granite City Press-Record on May 26, 1983, includes Gustafsson's name. Over the list is the headline, "1983 class will graduate from Granite City South tonight."

Gustafsson's sponsor in 1983, Cathy Houston of Granite City, said Tuesday that the 16-year-old girl participated in graduation and was ranked academically in the top 20 of the class.

"They did not give her a diploma," Houston said. "They gave her a certificate of attendance. It was only a formality to let her participate in the graduation exercise."

"It should not have happened, if it did," District 9 Superintendent Gib Walmsley said.

Walmsley said that if Gustafsson was involved, she should have achieved credits to graduate in Granite City. He said the rule is fair because other students, some lacking as little as a quarter credit, want to participate in the ceremony without having met graduation requirements. Only those who finish their senior requirements participate, he said.

Former District 9 Superintendent B.J. Davis, Edwardsville, did not recall that Gustafsson graduated with the class, but said it may have happened.

That's very possible. It could have been a special granting by the board on that," Davis said.

As with previous exchange students, Peperkorn was involved in school activities. He played on the varsity tennis team and attended the senior prom.

In 1987, Ohlsson participated in extracurricular activities, was accepted into the National Honorary Society for academic achievement, and though knowing he could not graduate, Ohlsson wanted to complete the year with his American friends by being in the commencement ceremony.

"I just felt like he should have been recognized," Suss said.

Don Shaffner, who coordinates District 9's cooperative education programs and Rotary Club student exchange programs, disagrees with Suss. Shaffner said he supports District 9's policy against having foreign exchange students participate in the ceremony. He said the district's policy is fair.

Although foreign exchange students can't participate in commencement on an honorary basis in Granite City, students who travel from Southwestern Illinois to Scandinavian countries participate in ceremonies there, Reuter said.

Reuter said students from other countries should get a complete educational experience when they come to Granite City, including the experience of participating in a commencement ceremony.

"They're here to learn all the different customs," she said. "I don't think it would hurt anything."

Gustafsson's sponsor, Houston, said she favors letting foreign exchange students participate in graduation.

"It's not fair to these kids. Some of them work twice as hard. They have to maintain their grades or they get sent back," she said.

Some of those ASSE students disagree with the policy, they do not hold a grudge, Reuter said. "They do get over it, but they feel like they've missed out on something," Reuter said.

Gaffner again calls for debate

EDWARDSVILLE — Republican congressional candidate Robert Gaffner last week again challenged Democratic candidate Jerry Costello to a debate.

"I frankly think he is ducking me," Gaffner told members of the Young Republicans Club at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"We could conduct a minimum of two debates before the Aug. 9 special election to fill the unexpired term of the late U.S. Rep. Melvin Price," Gaffner said.

"I think this is an obligation Mr. Costello has to the people."

Costello and Gaffner will face each other in the Nov. 8 election for the 21st District seat in Congress.

They also are likely to face each other in the Aug. 9 special election to fill the final months of the current term, which expires in January.

Costello said he intends to debate the issues before the special election.

"I have already said I intend to debate prior to the Aug. 9 election," Costello, of Belleville, said, "but I think it would be presumptuous for Mr. Gaffner or myself to do so until we resolve the special primary election July 12."

Costello said he thinks a debate is a good way to inform the public. He said that was his reason for participating in a debate before the March primary.

"But I suggest that we take one election at a time," Costello said.

Gaffner, of Greenville, told the students that his priorities and those of all Republicans in the district should be improving economic development, education and the war on crime and drugs. He said crime and drugs have become the most debilitating problems of society.

"I'm glad to see you becoming politically involved," Gaffner told his audience.

Gaffner will have no opposition in a July 12 special primary for the interim term.

Costello will face Clarence Ellis of East St. Louis in the special Democratic primary.

Bethel 43 elects officers

An election of officers was held at the Job's Daughters' meeting May 24 with Vickie Becker, honored queen, presiding, under the direction of Charlotte Root, acting Bethel guard, and Dale O'Bear, associate Bethel guard.

Elected were: Keri Smith, honored queen; Cary Miller, senior princess; Carmen Tanya, junior princess; Cori Elmore, guide; and Amy Isenburgh, marsi.

Smith appointed: chaplain, LaVona Leonesio; treasurer, Laura Patton; musician, Sheri Pickett; librarian, Krisli Holsinger; first messenger, Rachel Roe; second messenger, Melissa Lynch; third messenger, Tanya McWilliams; fourth messenger, Heidi Koenig; fifth messenger, Crystal McWilliams; recorder.

Jennifer Edwards; outer guard, April Marsh; inner guard, Dena Withers; senior custodian, Kori Rylander; and junior custodian, Tanya Campbell.

Installation of the new officers was held May 28, followed by a reception at the Granite City Masonic Temple.

New council members are: Sandy Dawson, director of epochs; Judy Sullivan, custodian of paraphernalia; Norma Becker, promoter of finance; and Dorothy Elmore, promoter of sociality.

Class for parents of disabled

Donald C. Rikli, attorney, will be the guest lecturer at a Legal Rights of Disabled People class being held at Lewis and Clark Community College, Godfrey.

The estate planning class will be offered Monday, June 13, from 7:15 p.m. until 8:45 p.m.

"We are inviting parents of the disabled to attend this class free of charge."

"They need to know the law regarding leaving their estate to their disabled children, at the same time protecting their children's rights as they become adults in need of state services," said Tom Kennedy, class instructor from the Land of Lincoln Legal Assistance Foundation.

Rikli has practiced law in Highland for over 30 years. He is the author of "The Illinois Probate System," published by the Illinois Institute for Continuing Legal Education, as well as many legal articles and book chapters.

He has written and lectured on the subjects of probate law, federal estate taxes, real estate law, and law office systems, management and procedures.

Parents of the disabled interested in attending the class are to call Dick Goodwin or Sharon Johnson at the IMPACT office, 462-1411.

SIUE journalism program in top 10

Mass communications students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville helped the university's journalism program finish sixth in the national standings of the Hearst Foundation's 28th annual Journalism Awards competition.

It was the seventh time in nine years the university has finished among the top 10 in the annual awards program.

The SIUE Journalism program, though small by comparison, and having recently lost its accreditation, competed with much larger schools among the top 10 in the competition, which ended in April.

SIUE finished behind Louisiana State University, the University of Nebraska, Iowa State University, the University of Missouri and the University of Florida.

Behind SIUE completing the top 10 were the University of Alabama, the University of Washington, Northwestern University and the University of Oklahoma.

According to the coordinator of SIUE's journalism program, Bill Ward, the university's finish was remarkable.

"We should be out of our league in this competition," he said. "It's like playing Division I basketball. We have 259 mass communication majors, but places like Florida and Alabama have 1,700 majors. Nebraska has 1,100; the winner, Louisiana State, has 800 to draw from."

Ward believes the answer probably lies in the emphasis SIUE's program places on professional writing.

Students are required to complete four courses in professional writing; another five courses are indirectly involved with writing.

"We believe editors want fine writers," Ward said. "It is our job to prepare and encourage writers; that's what we do best. No one has ever convinced us print journalism is based on something other than writing."

Ward said SIUE in the past has finished as high as third in the national competition.

The Hearst program is conducted under the auspices of accredited schools of the Association of Schools of Journalism and Mass Communication, and is fully funded and administered by the William Randolph Hearst Foundation. It consists of six monthly contests and one photo-journalism competition, with championship finals in both divisions.

Granite Citians among John Newman scholars

The second group of John Henry Newman Scholars has been selected for studies beginning in the fall of 1988, according to Suetlen Ofe, executive director of admissions and financial aid at Marycrest College, Davenport.

The scholarship program was initiated in 1967 to offer full tuition, full room and board scholarships to students with outstanding academic and leadership abilities.

Eleven high school seniors have been selected and will begin their studies this fall. They include Michelle Kondrich and Chris Miskell, both of Granite City.

Miskell, 2504 Roney Drive, was active in high school programs, an Illinois State Scholar, a National Honor Society member, participant in Girls' State, captain in the Marching Warriors Band two years, named in Who's Who Among American High School Students, a member of the Girls' Glee Club, the Photography Club, the Science Club, the Foreign Language Club and the National Forensics League, a mathematics tutor, a member of Students Against Driving Drunk, Flag Squad captain, a cheerleader, and selected to be a judge of elections at Girls' State.

Madison County Teen Leadership.

Miskell also has been a member of Empathy (a peer helper group), the Science Club, the Foreign Policy Club, Who's Who Among American High School Students, the Society of Distinguished High School Students, speech and debate teams and the tennis team.

Kondrich, 2827 Carolyn Ave., was an Illinois State Scholar, National Honor Society member, participant in Girls' State, captain in the Marching Warriors Band two years, named in Who's Who Among American High School Students, a member of the Girls' Glee Club, the Photography Club, the Science Club, the Foreign Language Club and the National Forensics League, a mathematics tutor, a member of Students Against Driving Drunk, Flag Squad captain, a cheerleader, and selected to be a judge of elections at Girls' State.

Poplichak is married to Alicia (Hendrickson) Poplichak. They have a daughter, Victoria Nicole.

FEET FIRST

HAMMERTOES

By Dr. Claude Hiles

A hammertoe somewhat resembles a frightened cat that has its back arched. This condition is most likely to victimize the fifth toe. Those people with either high or low arches are more apt to be stricken with hammertoe because of the way in which their ligaments and tendons are positioned. Over time, hammertoes may display more rigidity. Painful corns may also develop at the top of the toe. At this point surgery may be indicated. One procedure calls for surgically lengthening the tendon so that the toe can be fully extended.

Early detection and treatment of hammertoes or other foot problems will help you put your best foot forward...again! Contact a podiatrist for periodic exams and whenever foot pain or injury occurs. My office, located at 1830 State St., practices state-of-the-art podiatry, geared to prevention as well as treatment. Bone and joint problems, including hammertoes, bunions, arch disorders, and heel spurs are corrected, in-office surgery is also performed. Office hours by appointment. John Hancock, BC/BS, Medicare and most insurances accepted.

Piasa holds advanced 'Snowball' weekend

Piasa Health Care's Project Avalanche: Advanced Operation Snowball Weekend was held at Camp Salateeska, Pinckneyville. Students and youth and adult staff members totaling 120 participated in this substance abuse prevention weekend program.

Among the participants were Jennie Burns, Tawana Carter, Jody Hunter, Erika King, Erika Rockett, Tracha McGhee, Yolada Scruggs, Christina Wiley, Javon Wiley and Jeanine Wiley. Project "Avalanche" is an advanced educational and peer leadership training program. It is founded on the belief that every person has the capacity to make sound decisions regarding life based on accurate information and an understanding of one's self and motivations.

The purpose of Project Avalanche is to bring together professional resources and adolescents from the counties of Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Washington, Clinton, Macoupin and Randolph to explore issues and share information about substance abuse and related life problems.

Project Avalanche is sponsored by Piasa Health Care in cooperation with the Illinois

Alcoholism and Drug Dependence Association.

It is also supported by organizations, schools, and individuals who provide scholarships of $70 per Project Avalanche participant. Among the donors are the Granite City Optimist Club and Venice Community Unit School District 3.

The Hall of Name

Watching baseball lately, I've noticed guys keep coming to the plate named Tracy and Darryl and Keith. Baseball used to have madly names. Today, it's all names like, well, like Tracy, Darryl and Keith.

I suppose it's part of the homogenization of America. The melting pot has melted much of the ethnic flavor from the names people give their children. You don't find names like Memo (Luna) and Napoleon (Lajoie) any more.

Not only that, but nobody has nicknames any more — like "Nap" or "Ap." "Boom-Boom" or "Shoelace Joe."

It strikes me that there are millions of baseball fans who don't know how colorful baseball names used to be. So herewith, for your edification and amusement, is something I call "The Baseball Hall of Name." They're all genuine. Honest.

The modern names seem so tame beside the old ones in the game. Gone are cognomens like "Boots."

"Ski" and "Rube," "Bulldog" and "Puddinhead," "Hoot," "Gabby," "Boob."

Shakespeare asked, "What's in a name?" But Shakespeare never knew this game!

"Would tickle the Bard as 'I would tickle us To find a player dubbed 'The Nashville Narcissus!'"

What happened to the great names given and "nick" Like "Sal the Barber" or simply Ford Frick?

You want a syllabic Hall of Famer? Try Cletis Elwood Poffenberger!

"The Flying Dutchman" "The Fordham Flash" "The People's Cherce" "Boomer," "Crash,"

Vada Pinson, Honus Wagner Arky Vaughan, "Granny Hamner" Thornton Kipper and Lai Blue

descriptive Nuts Bits and Merrit Ranew.

There's "Big Six," "Big Train" Alpha Brazil, Ferris Pann Roman Mejias and Lou Skizas

Jimmy Outlaw, "Jigger" Statz and Marty Marton known as "Slats."

Charles "Jolly Cholly" Grimm and Mr. James Bottomley "Sunny Jim."

Eugene Hargraves ("Bubbles") Clarence Marshall ("Cuddles") "Dizzy" Dean and "Dazzy" Vance All might complain if given the chance.

But "Dauntless Dave" Danforth and "Rough Bill" Corrigan doubtless would choose thus to be named again.

Here are some more names I think are just swell: "Bollicky" "Boileryard" "Ding-Dong" "Bell" "Dim-Dom," "Dingaling" and "Dimples" as well!

There's "Big Serb," "Frenchy" "Iron Man" McGinnity and Johnny Hopp — (what else?)

"Hippety!" Gates Brown and "Baby Doll" Omar "Turk" Leonard and how about Mordecai "Three Finger" Brown?

Ellis Deal was nicknamed "Cot." Branca's nemesis was "The Staten Island Scot."

"Bubba" Morton, Belinski ("Bo") Jabbo Jablonski, "Joltin Joe."

The list could go on a "handle" Hall of Fame. But these few should attest to the colorful zest They used to bring to our nation's game.

"The Earl of Snohomish" "The Duke of Tulce" "King-Kong" Keller and "Rajah" Hornsby Are surely baseball royalty.

But for length and pure grandeur one name tops the list: Calvin Coolidge

Julius Caesar Tuskahoma "Buster" McLish.

Rendezvous

Time for flintlocks, buckskins and mollies

By Andy Sierling

FORT DE CHARTRES — They came from as far as Florida and Alaska, and from as near as Granite City, Cahokia and O'Fallon. They came for the privilege of cooking over open fires, camping in tents and wigwags and sweetening in buckskins or heavy cotton and wool.

"They" were the hundreds of participants in the 19th annual Fort de Chartres Rendezvous last Saturday and Sunday at this national historic site in Randolph County.

This is the last place in North America where the fleur-de-lis flew. In 1763 France ceded its land east of the Mississippi to England and its land west of the great river to Spain, but it took the British two years to arrive to take control of Fort de Chartres, which they renamed Fort Cavendish.

Others came too, perhaps 50,000 visitors during the two days of the rendezvous, to see and hear the exhibitions of old French colonial song and dance and the bagpipers of the reconstituted 42nd Royal Highland Regiment, to browse among the craft stalls and exhibitions and watch the flintlock rifle and tomahawk-throwing contests.

The Fort de Chartres affair is similar to others held around the country, in that it celebrates the bygone era of the trapper, when hard-bitten men would haul their furs to market after months of wilderness solitude to barter and sell — and while they were at it to raise a little colonial hell.

There was quite a bit of bartering and outright selling done last weekend too, as merchants hawked furs, period jewelry and crafts, and demonstrated their manufacture. The emphasis at the rendezvous was on authenticity in dress and lifestyle. Cooking was done in iron kettles and pots and eating done off of pewter dishes.

At a furniture-making exhibit, a man operated a lathe driven by a wheel seven feet across, hand-cranked by a lad in his late teens. At one point, the young man said to the furniture maker, "Your motor's getting hungry."

Of course, the French colonists who lived around here 200 and more years ago didn't have Johnny-On-the-Spots and Igloo coolers. And they certainly didn't have ice cubes. But some concessions need to be made to modern creature comforts and sanitation requirements.

There is some justice in this, for the French officers garrisoned here from 1720 to 1765 sought to live in as high a style as they could muster. When the British arrived to take over the fort in 1765 following their decisive defeat of the French two years earlier in Quebec, they were astonished to find fine china and silver and crystal, and officers' wives bedecked in the latest French fashions transported via New Orleans riverboats.

There was none of that finery in evidence this weekend. Most of the participants adopted the style of French settlers of Southern Illinois, struggling farmers and trappers who wrung a living as best they could from the region, surrounded by hostile Indians who were constantly being stirred up by the British.

There were representatives of all the local clubs associated with Fort de Chartres, such as the Highlander regatta group des Bois ("woods runners," a flintlock club), the French Marines and the French Village Militiamen.

The Milice de Ste. Famille (Militia of the Holy Family) was there from Cahokia. The original militia, or irregular troops, was organized in 1732 and wiped out in 1759.

when it went to Fort Niagara in New York to help fight the British.

The militia bounced back, fighting successfully in other battles, including George Rogers Clark's defeat of the British at Vincennes, Ind., during the Revolutionary War.

The modern milice was reborn in December 1986 to bring attention to Cahokia's historical heritage. It takes its name from the oldest Catholic church parish in Illinois.

Capt. Dennis Nichols, a sandy-haired, mustachioed fellow, is the militia's "commanding officer." Nichols explained why this reporter was puzzled by something, the radically different clothing styles and camping styles of participants.

"It can be kind of hard to make sense of all this, I know. What you're looking at is 100 years of history thrown together for this event."

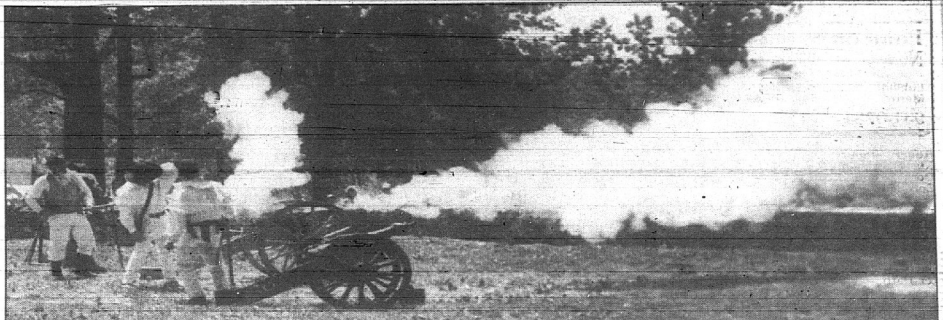

Nichols said many of the buckskinner types were not even close to being historically accurate. "Hollywood, Grizzly Adams buckskinners," he called them.

The members of the Milice are to develop healthy hearts and lungs. Myth: Physical exercise is unnecessary. Academics are what counts in raising a child.

Fact: Healthy children learn better. Research continues to support the role of physical fitness in promoting physical health, improved work capacity and energy.

Myth: Most students pass standard school fitness tests.

Fact: Each year 18 million school children take the Presidential Fitness rigorous about historical accuracy, right down to the canvas military gaiters worn over their shoes and calves. If some of their other clothing was civilian it was because that was the way the original militiamen dressed, getting what they could from the French commandant of the fort, supplying the rest themselves. They were, after all, farmer-volunteers.

Like Harry Voss, a truckdriver from East Carondelet, most of the men have functional flintlock rifle reproductions purchased in kit form. Voss was encountered toting his 49 caliber Charterville flintlock shortly after the Milice lost in the shooting contest to the French Marines, a modern reincarnation of the historical marines stationed at Fort de Chartres.

"I love the outdoors," Voss said by way of explanation for his participation. "I love 'period' anything. I told my wife I'd go to Canada and homestead if I could."

Voss' wife doesn't share his enthusiasm for roughing it. She went camping with him once, years ago, and it rained for two straight days. Never again, she vowed.

But the modern milice, which has 30 to 35 members, includes in that number perhaps a dozen wives who act as "mollies" or camp followers. Lynn Mefford of Granite City, is a molly. She and her husband, John, joined up after they saw an article about the militia last year in this paper.

Asked why she enjoys the rough life of primitive camping, Lynn said her husband is a history buff (as were most of those at the gathering) and that she has always liked the outdoors.

But then she gave perhaps the definitive answer to why somebody would spend the hundreds and even thousands of dollars on equipment and clothing this hobby demands.

"It's kind of fun to get out for the weekend and be somebody else," she could have added, "and be some-when-else."

Common misconceptions jeopardize youth fitness

The American Academy of Pediatrics is calling for more physical education programs in schools — those that stress lifetime fitness activities — and greater family involvement in fitness at home.

There are a number of widespread misconceptions about youth fitness, the academy says, including the following:

Myth: Children are fit.

Fact: In many ways, children are flabbier and less fit today than in the '60s. Studies show that up to 50 percent of children are not getting enough exercise to develop healthy hearts and lungs. Fact: Healthy children learn better. Research continues to support the role of physical fitness in promoting physical health, improved work capacity and energy.

Myth: Most students pass standard school fitness tests.

Fact: Each year 18 million school children take the Presidential Fitness

Test — a series of exercises to measure strength, flexibility and endurance. Only 2 percent of students who took the "President's Challenge" in 1984 received the award.

Myth: Muscles mean fitness.

Fact: Fitness involves more than the skills and strength needed to be a good athlete. A body builder may look strong and fit, but he has focused strictly on building muscle strength and could lack in other components of fitness, the AAP says. It defines fitness to include: muscle strength and endurance, flexibility, body fat composition and cardiorespiratory endurance.

Myth: Sports make kids fit.

Fact: Sports that stress speed, power and agility — football, basketball and baseball — are games of skill. They do not necessarily promote fitness. Parents and schools should introduce children to a variety of "lifetime" activities (those that can be carried into adulthood) such as bicycling, swimming, running, fast walking, aerobics and tennis.

Edwardsville Police Department and the East St. Louis Police Department.

Madison County Sheriff Bob Church and St. Clair County Undersheriff Bruce Morris joined Inlow in announcing the program.

Inlow declined to say how often the state police would ride NW engines to check train dodgers, but said the program would not cost taxpayers any more than they already spend for police protection.

"We're using existing personnel and facilities and equipment," Inlow said. "There is no added cost."

Inlow said the program could be increased if it is effective. One measure of effectiveness, he said, would be a reduction in vehicle-train accidents.

In St. Clair and Madison counties, Inlow said, there have been four vehicle-train fatalities since January.

State police ride rails to save lives

The trooper is additionally assisted by a Cessna 182.

"You don't get away from the airplane guys," Jay said.

State Police Maj. Lonnie Inlow announced the program Tuesday at NW's St. Louis office. He said 70 percent of vehicle-train accidents in Illinois happen at crossings having electric signals.

"It is apparent that more than electric warning signals are needed to prevent the needless loss of life, injuries, and property damage," he said.

State police and NW are cooperating to make the program work. They are being helped by the Illinois Railroad Association, Illinois Commerce Commission, sheriffs' departments in St. Clair and Madison counties, Scott Air Force Base Security Police, Belleville Police Department, Granite City Police Department,

THE LAW AND YOU
BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes a person will contact this office and indicate he has been in an auto accident with an uninsured driver. It is estimated that more than one-third of the drivers in metro east do not have car insurance. How can a person be compensated for personal injuries he sustains in an auto accident if the driver at fault does not have automobile insurance?

Illinois law now requires insurance companies to provide uninsured motorist coverage with car insurance policies. Therefore the injured driver in our example could look to his own carrier for compensation for his injuries if the other driver is at fault and has no insurance. A man deciding on car insurance may want to keep in mind the large percentage of drivers who are uninsured when determining what limits he will have under his uninsured motorist coverage.

In one recent case, a woman was preparing to make a left-hand turn when she was struck from the rear by another driver. The woman who was turning had her left blinker on, and the driver who hit her car was issued a traffic citation. The driver at fault had no automobile insurance coverage at the time of the accident. The driver who was preparing to turn had full coverage on her car, and she sustained injuries to her neck and back.

The injured driver treated with an orthopedic surgeon and received outpatient physical therapy at a hospital. The uninsured driver signed an affidavit indicating he had no auto insurance coverage at the time of the accident, and the injured driver eventually submitted an uninsured motorist claim to her own auto carrier.

The insurance company settled the claim in this case with its own insured. The question arose after the settlement as to whether this would result in a rate increase for the injured driver. With this company, there was no increase in premiums since this particular insurer only raised premiums when its insured was at fault in an accident. Whether submitting an uninsured motorist claim will result in a premium increase varies from company to company. One should check with his own insurer to answer this question in a particular case.

Amey

Elizabeth (Kaminski) Amey, 67, 901 Grand Ave., Madison, died early Wednesday morning at St. Louis University Hospital.

Born Jan. 19, 1921, to Walter and Elizabeth Kaminski, Mrs. Amey was a social worker and a member of Jehovah's Witnesses.

She was preceded in death by her parents and three brothers, Walter, David and John Kaminski. Mrs. Amey is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rene (Rosalie) Logez, St. Louis; four brothers, Thomas Kaminski, Granite City, Benedict and Glen Kaminski, both of Highland, and David Kaminski, Madison; three sisters, Rosalie English, Highland, Mrs. Antoinette Przada, Granite City, and Charlotte Gotsa, Florida.

There will be no funeral services; her remains will be cremated. Arrangements were handled by Schildknecht Funeral Home, O'Fallon.

Gushleff

Thomas L. Gushleff, 71, 3408 Lydia Lane, was pronounced dead at his home at 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 7, 1988, by Madison County Deputy Coroner Loren Davis.

Born May 4, 1917, in Madison, Mr. Gushleff was a lifetime resident of Granite City and Madison. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Mr. Gushleff was employed as a sales representative for Tarius Wholesale Distributors, Madison, for many years.

He was an elder of the First Presbyterian Church and a member of Disabled American Veterans Chapter 53, American Association of Retired Persons and Eagles Aerie 1129.

Among the survivors are two sisters, Mrs. William (Helen) Knobloch, Schaumburg, Ill., and Mrs. John (Sophie) Baker, Columbia, Mo.; and nieces and nephews.

Visitation will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. today (Thursday) and from 2 to 4 p.m. Friday at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., where the Rev. Richard Hunt will conduct services at 10 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville. In lieu of flowers, memorials to the First Presbyterian Church Organ Fund are suggested.

Hanna

Ruth Geraldine (Tinnin) Hanna, 60, 4028 Road Ave., died at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday, June 7, 1988, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she had been a patient three days.

Born Oct. 2, 1927, in Texas to Robert M. and Viola Jane (Knapp) Tinnin, Mrs. Hanna resided briefly in Texas and in Sorento, Ill., before moving to Granite City, where she lived the rest of her life. She was associated with the Assembly of God Church.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Harry Hanna, on May 28, 1986, and by her parents, a brother and two sisters.

She is survived by three sons from a previous marriage, Danny Trobaugh, Edwardsville, and Kevin and Kerry Trobaugh, both of Granite City; a daughter, Debra Janne, Florissant; three brothers, Leon Tinnin, San Diego, and Gne and Lamoine Tinnin, both of Rosewood Heights; a sister, Hazel Barnes, Bunker Hill; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at Peretti Funeral Home, Main Street, Sorento, by the Rev. Ray Hollis. Burial will be at Sunnyside Cemetery, Sorento. Visitation will take place from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. today at Peretti.

Orman

Earl Orman, 80, Edwardsville, died at 8:28 a.m. Wednesday, June 8, 1988, at Anderson Hospital, Maryville.

Born Sept. 17, 1907, in Xenia, Ill., Mr. Orman was a lifetime resident of Edwardsville, where he owned and operated Orman's Standard Service for 38 years before his retirement in 1972.

He was a member of Calvary Pentecostal Assembly Church, Granite City.

Survivors are his wife, Louise (York) Scheyer Orman, Edwardsville; three daughters, Mrs. Beverly Porter, Fort Mitchell, Ky., Mrs. Earlene Shaw, Edwardsville, and Sandy Orman, Fort Myers, Fla.; three stepsons, David Scheyer, Salinas, Calif., Donald Scheyer, Granite City, and Alan Scheyer, Edwardsville; a stepdaughter, Janet K. Reed, Edwardsville; three brothers, Casey Orman, Pekin, and Gerald and Carl Orman, both of Edwardsville; three sisters, Mrs. Peggy Haug, Mrs. Blanche Sievers and Mrs. Judy Seaton, all of Edwardsville; 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Friday at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly Church, 4650 Maryville Road, with the Rev. Harold Maynard and the Rev. Mark Maynard officiating. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Edwardsville. Visitation will be from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. today at Mateer Funeral Home, 210 N. Kansas St., Edwardsville, and from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Friday at Calvary Pentecostal Assembly Church. Memorials are requested for the church.

Purkale

Betty Jo (Sparks) Purkale, 44, 1610 Sixth St., Madison, died Monday night, June 6, 1988, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center of injuries suffered in an auto crash at 9:35 p.m. Monday. Her car struck the rear of a truck on Illinois 3 south of Industrial Drive in Granite City.

Born Jan. 27, 1944, in West Frankfort, Ill., Mrs. Purkale resided in the Quad City area for 40 years. She worked for the last two years at the University Club, Richmond Heights, Mo., where she was a banquet waitress. She belonged to the Protestant faith.

Mrs. Purkale is survived by her husband, Joe Purkale, whom she married March 19, 1982, at Second Baptist Church, Granite City; a daughter, Mrs. Brett (Joan Marie) Green, Granite City; a son, William Schaefer, Granite City; her mother, Mrs. Grace (Reynolds) Sparks, Granite City; six sisters, Mrs. Ben (Peggy) Brady, Creve Coeur, Mrs. Jesse (Jean) Hannus, Moline, Mrs. William (Karla) Davis, Denham Springs, La., and Greta Brown, Mrs. John (Kathy) Jaros and Mrs. Ray (Joyce) Badgett, all of Granite City; three brothers, Richard Sparks, Moline, Jerry Sparks, Granite City, and Jack Sparks, Alton; and one grandchild.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. today at Lahey-Sedlack Funeral Home, 615 Madison Ave., Madison, by the Rev. Mark Haumschilt. Her remains will be cremated. Visitation will be held Wednesday. Memorials are requested for the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children.

Naval Reserve honors Pizza Hut

GRANITE CITY — Steve Stewart, manager of the Granite City Pizza Hut, has received a Department of Defense Certificate of Appreciation for support of the Naval Reserve.

Stewart was nominated for the award by Beth A. Kirkover, a seaman in the Naval Supply Depot Guam Reserve Unit 118, St. Louis.

Capt. R.W. Reynolds, commanding officer of Naval Supply Depot Guam, presented Stewart the award on behalf of the National Committee for Employment Support of the Guard and Reserve.

The award is part of a national effort to recognize supportive employers of Guardsmen and Reservists.

Also attending the presentation at the local Pizza Hut was John Bowman, area supervisor for Pizza Hut St. Louis Inc., who reaffirmed the corporation's commitment to continued support of employees who are Guardsmen or Reservists.

Kirkover's Reserve Unit, Naval Supply Depot Guam, specializes in the supply and logistic functions of the Navy.

In the event of mobilization or other national emergencies, the unit members would immediately assume full-time roles alongside their active duty counterparts at Guam.

Kirkover and her unit travel annually to Guam to receive the weeks of hands-on training in the operations of the supply depot.

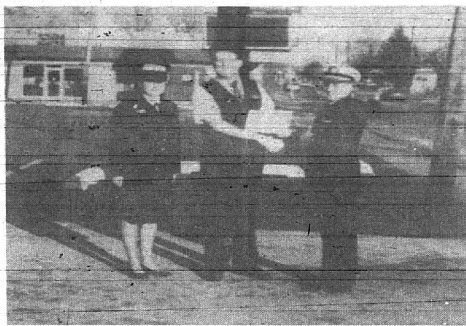

The mission of Naval Supply Depot Guam is to provide supplies and support services to Pacific Fleet units and shore activities.

Training received by the Reservists includes receiving, storing, issuing and shipping material, as well as processing the necessary paperwork.

During the remainder of the year, Kirkover and members of her unit receive weekend training at the Naval Supply Center, Oakland, Calif., and the Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Center, St. Louis.

Reynolds said that in a traveling Reserve Unit, such as Naval Supply Depot Guam, cooperation between the Reservist and the employer is of great importance to meet the many special travel requirements before and after each training event.

Employers, such as Pizza Hut, which have personnel policies that encourage employee participation in the National Guard and Reserve, play a vital role in the readiness of the National Guard and Reserve forces, Reynolds said.

"By virtue of their support and encouragement of employees in the Guard and Reserve, they are essential members of the Total Force," he said.

Employers play a critical role in maintaining the personnel strength of the National Guard and Reserve. Research conducted by the Department of Defense indicates Guard and Reserve members are far more likely to remain in the military service when their employers support their participation, a military spokesman said.

Other studies conclude that nearly one-third of those who leave the Guard and Reserve do so because of conflicts between the demands of their civilian employment and the responsibilities of the Reserves.

Guard and reserve units make up 40 percent of the total military strength of the U.S. armed forces. These 1.6 million men and women provide significant portions of many essential defense capabilities, it was emphasized.

So thoroughly are they integrated into the force structure and contingency plans of their parent service that the Department of Defense considers them absolutely critical to the nation's security, authorities said.

The active forces, for example, depend on Guard and Reserve units for essential wartime supply and service support. Many active-duty commands are only partially structured in peacetime and only become fully combat ready when assigned Guard and Reserve units join them upon mobilization, officials said.

Some Guard and Reserve units have critical mobilization missions that require them to be ready to deploy before active units.

Reserve components are made up of the Army and Air National Guard and the Army, Marine Corps, Naval, Air Force and Coast Guard reserves.

Reserves honor Turner

VENICE — Dale Turner Jr., a Venice High School senior, has been named the winner of the 1988 Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete Award.

Turner was chosen by faculty members and school administrators to receive the award for outstanding achievements in both academics and athletics.

Turner presented the award, a bronze Olympic-style medal, to the high school senior.

Turner, an outstanding guard on the Venice Red Devils varsity basketball team, played on the squad as a junior when the team won the 1987 Illinois Class A state championship.

As a senior on the team, he was named to honorable mention on the Illinois High School All-State Basketball Team.

Turner has accepted a four-year scholarship to Northern Iowa State University.

The U.S. Army Reserve's sponsorship of the National Scholar/Athlete Award is part of its continuing commitment to recognize outstanding achievements in the areas of academics and athletics by the nation's youth, a spokesman for the Reserve said.

Last year, there were 20,056 award winners from more than 10,500 high schools.

Since the program's inception in 1981, more than 80,000 American high school students have been recognized through the program.

Dale Turner Jr.

The Army Reserve is the nation's oldest federal reserve force. Currently, 250,000 men and women serve in more than 3,000 units in the United States.

Ceremony June 16 at VA Center

A dedication ceremony to formally celebrate the opening of the Clinical Addition to the Veterans Administration Medical Center, St. Louis, will be held on June 16 at 1:30 p.m. at the John Cochran Division.

Thomas K. Turnage, administrator of Veterans Affairs, U.S. Veterans Administration, will be the keynote speaker. Summer Break will provide music, and students from Farragut Elementary School will participate in the pledge of allegiance.

Tours will be conducted and the public is invited to the ceremony.

"This represents the VA's commitment to keep pace with improvements in health care that will benefit the veteran population," said John T. Carson, Medical Center director.

The John Cochran Division of the St. Louis Veterans Administration Medical Center began serving veterans in 1954.

"The adage that the only thing constant is change was as true 34 years ago as it is today," Carson said. "During the past years, the Cochran Division has provided quality medical care, a broad spectrum of educational programs and major research which has had an impact on medical care for veterans as well as the population at large."

"There have been structural changes and modifications at the Division, but the most complex and beneficial project is the Clinical Addition and Ward Renovation Project."

"The planning of the project began years ago with key members of the Deans Committee, including representatives of veterans service organizations as well as St. Louis University Medical School, Washington University Medical and Dental schools and the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Dental School.

"Through the long-range planning of these professionals, the St. Louis VA Medical Center will remain in the forefront of health care for veterans by continued quality medical care, education, training, and medical research."

The Clinical Addition and Ward Renovation Project, costing $23.2 million and including six new floors above the current ambulatory care section and new construction adjacent to the area, will provide more than 148,000 square feet of new construction as well as $3,000 square feet of renovated space.

This space will replace and expand major clinical support areas and renovate two nursing ward units to provide improved facilities.

Steps to healthier diet, lower cholesterol

By Rosemary Scherer
Registered dietitian,
St. Elizabeth Medical Center

Most Americans are aware that reducing their serum or blood level of cholesterol will reduce the risk of heart disease.

The confusion starts when they begin sorting through the mountains of information available about cholesterol-lowering diets.

Unfortunately, just avoiding cholesterol in the foods we eat is not enough, and changing any habit (like the way we eat) is always hard.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Dietary Department and the American Heart Association recommend a simple eating plan for healthy adults interested in reducing their risks.

First, eat a balanced diet that meets your needs for all nutrients. Lose weight if necessary, and reduce total fat intake from all sources to about 30 percent of your daily calories.

The fat that remains in your diet should come equally from saturated, polyunsaturated and monounsaturated sources. Dietary cholesterol should be limited to 300 milligrams per day.

Turning these guidelines into a meal plan you can enjoy is where the real work begins.

Begin slowly.

One suggestion is to try changing only one thing about your diet each week. This slower change makes adjusting easier and gives you more time to experiment with new cooking methods and flavors.

A good place to start might be meat, poultry or fish portion sizes. Reducing the total amount per day to six ounces is a good goal to work toward.

Another possible goal is to only use low-fat cooking methods, like baking, broiling or grilling. Including more fish and poultry in your regular diet will also decrease the amount of total fat eaten. A well-known recommendation is limiting egg yolks to three per week.

Supermarket strategies:

Some basic food knowledge will make grocery shopping easier. Reading labels is essential. Many convenience foods commonly purchased contain saturated fats or large amounts of other fats.

Booklets are available with tips for wise food selection and guidelines on how to tell a high-fat food from a low-fat one.

Remember that reading labels includes reading the nutritional label as well as information printed on the front. A product can be correctly labeled "no cholesterol" and still contain a large proportion of saturated fat.

Caution should also be used when purchasing products labeled "lower in fat." The nutrition label is your best source for precise amounts of fat and (sometimes) cholesterol in convenience foods.

By making use of both the ingredient list and the nutrition label, you can quickly decide whether or not a particular food fits into your new cholesterol-lowering diet.

Experiment:

A common complaint about cholesterol-lowering diets is that all the "good" foods are "bad" for you.

Although it may be true that many of the foods traditionally eaten in this country are high in saturated fat and cholesterol, a large variety of food exists that fit well into this diet plan. These foods are not included in the regular diet very often or have never been tried.

Fruits and vegetables contain very little fat and no cholesterol. Poultry, fish and veal are lower in saturated fat, although they still contain cholesterol.

The demand for lower-fat products has also caused producers to market leaner cuts of beef and pork, as well as many new lower fat convenience products.

Any diet change requires adding new foods to your meal plans and trying new recipes and cooking methods.

If you are a little hesitant about learning new ways to cook, or hate to buy something you have never tasted before, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, is offering a class designed just for you.

Originally developed by the American Heart Association, Cooking ala Heart combines information about low-fat diets, actual cooking demonstrations and samples of foods that fit well into a cholesterol-lowering diet.

Proof is given that you do not have to eat baked chicken seven days a week to lower your serum cholesterol. The class is taught by registered dietitians, who are experienced in helping people overcome diet hurdles. For more information, persons may call 798-3492.

Husband, wife now physicians

Anne M. Dimitroff, M.D., and James W. Dimitroff, M.D., are two of 68 new physicians who graduated from Southern Illinois University School of Medicine May 28 in Springfield.

She will enter a pediatrics residency and he will enter an internal medicine residency, both at the SIU affiliated hospitals in Springfield. The couple is married.

James W. Dimitroff

Anne is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Beck of Chester, Ill. She is a graduate of Gibault High School in Waterloo and of Xavier University, where she earned her bachelor's degree in natural science.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dimitroff of Granite City. He is a graduate of Granite City High School South and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where he earned his bachelor's degree in biology.

While at the medical school, James was a member of the Student Peer Review Committee. He was awarded a St. Elizabeth Medical Center Auxiliary scholarship, Illinois General Assembly scholarship and Disabled American Veterans scholarship.

Commencement exercises for the school's 14th graduating class were held in the Sangamon State University auditorium. The convocation address was delivered by Robert C. Petersdorf, M.D., president of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

The degrees were conferred by John C. Guyon, Ph.D., president of SIU at Carbondale. Diplomats were presented by Richard H. Moy, M.D., dean and provost of the School of Medicine.

To make a washer and dryer less noticeable in a crowded kitchen, use built-in cabinets designed to look like a bookcase on one side and a laminate work surface on top. One section fits up for the top-loading washer.

If doing a dirty, don't repeat — wash it! Use a long-handled hose brush, like kind sold for washing cars, with an extension handle if necessary.

Pleasant scents around the house: florals, spices, herbs and woody fragrances. One way to spread the aroma is to take perfume or a cardboard unit and place it inside a lampshade. The heat of the light vaporizes the fragrance.

There are two tricks to keep fence posts straight until the cement around them hardens. First, rest the posts in stones or gravel, not just dirt, and nail up temporary braces to hold it in place.

Many real estate investors prefer to swap property instead of selling it in order to defer tax liability. Now Congress is considering legislation that would limit this tax savings; check with a realty expert.

Honorary degrees favored

Giving honorary degrees to foreign exchange students at the high school graduation ceremony would be a gracious gesture from our school district.

Bright youngsters from foreign lands who visit Granite City expect to learn more than the dry information found in our school books. They expect to learn about the United States by meeting the people and participating in the richness of our lifestyles.

To the world, the United States presents itself as an open, generous society and that is indeed the kind of people we are — free, bold and honest.

Taking pride in our national image and knowing it is in our best interest to maintain it, there is nothing of value to be gained from the hard-line stance District 9 administrators take against awarding honorary diplomas to foreign exchange students.

Excuses for denying honorary diplomas are fatuous and make the district look pompous.

Administrators imply honorary diplomas cheapen real ones. In the case of exchange students, their education levels match and may exceed our high school senior level. Furthermore, universities regularly award honorary degrees to people who are never expected to earn them, but that doesn't mean there is anything cheap about a degree earned at Washington University, to name one such institution.

Another excuse against honorary diplomas is that district students who do not have enough graduation credits also want to be in the ceremony. Because the district will not let those students graduate with the class, foreign students also must be denied, we are told.

That's silly. Once more the district is hiding in inflexibility, using the same rigid reliance on self-seducing dogma that caused District 9 to be a laughing stock in the Metro East last year for telling a boy he could not graduate with the Class of 1987 just because his employer required him to work during practice for graduation.

No exceptions, the boy was told. No exceptions, foreign students are told.

Those are not victories in community relations for the district. They are defeats caused by a mentality that puts rules before compassion.

Making exceptions for foreign students would hurt no one and would be remembered always as a sign of our friendship.

But so that no one would be led to believe foreign students are actually getting diplomas at graduation, a moderator could simply point out that foreign students are being honored. It would be a logical, if not great, public relations move.

The District 9 Board of Education has a committee that makes policies for the district. We urge it to take a hard look at hard-line rules on graduation and to make them more humane.

Primaries achieved their goal

It worked well, didn't it?

No, we don't mean that Democrat Michael Dukakis and Republican George Bush are perfection personified. But the much-criticized primary system did produce clear-cut presidential choices, well before the summer-time nominating conventions.

U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, formerly of Metro East, and other contenders verify that campaigning is long and exhausting, with many pitfalls to be avoided and countless challenges to their thinking and tact as well as their stamina.

But the system itself, varied and sometimes illogical, functioned beautifully in gradually weeding out candidates until the final two were identified.

There has been no revolution, no coup, and yet most Americans are now becoming mentally prepared to support either Bush or Dukakis for the highest office in the land. The remaining time before Nov. 8 can be devoted to learning more about them and their ideas so that a reasonably well informed selection can be made.

It can be said there has been too much emphasis on the "horse race" aspects of the competition and not enough on real or perceived issues.

It can be noted that, despite a record number of debates, some of the hopefuls were able to avoid spelling out detailed positions.

It can be said that the rules and timing of state primaries are complex and even unfair. The 1984 Democratic nominee, Walter Mondale, testified Tuesday in favor of a proposed federal law to establish regional primaries and curb the influence of Iowa and New Hampshire voters. (As usual this year, the New Hampshire results accurately predicted the apparent nominees.)

But despite all these supposed flaws, the procedure worked. It was democracy in action — the worst governmental system, except for all the others.

Task for General Assembly

A letter writer has pointed to several ironies of life here, especially in the bottomland area.

Local drivers must have their auto exhausts tested yearly to help foster clean air. But there is no such requirement for vehicle owners atop the bluffs, in other areas of Illinois and in other states, even though they can and do drive through Metro East.

Treatment and drainage tasks are a growing burden on bottomland taxpayers but not on hill communities that contribute to flood problems.

The rationale often is that it would be impractical to restructure jurisdictional boundaries and taxation to achieve greater fairness. Another key element is that it would be highly unpopular.

But popular or not, the general issue of apportioning costs among those who benefit needs serious study by legislators. The defense that "I can only vote for what is popular" just isn't adequate.

Shriners achieve praise for helping burn victims

To the editor:

Over a recent weekend I visited my daughter and my 4-year-old grandson in the Shriners Burn Institute in Cincinnati.

This is a fantastic place. The doctors and nurses have the patience of saints — they are so warm and caring with the burned children that they treat.

It really breaks your heart to see some of these kids and you yourself want to reach out and help them. I talked with several parents while I was there and some of them have been there for months with their kids. They also had nothing but praise for the Shriners Hospital and staff.

My daughter has a place to stay and is able to be with my grandson from morning till night.

The Shriners are great people and I (appreciate) all the help they give us. CAROLYN FRYE

Commuting hampered in Granite City

To the editor:

Until recently a local church had been letting the commuters to St. Louis, who travel Bi-State, park on their church lot. But now they say we no longer can do this, stating a few flimsy excuses. Another church discontinued (letting us use) their couple of years ago. These lots are empty all day.

Now that means we who have to drive to a bus stop must park on the public street, right? Wrong.

The local residents figure that the public streets in front of their homes are also their property. Some have went to such lengths, especially along Edgewood, as to getting up petitions to have "No Parking" or "2-Hour Parking" signs up. Now pray tell me how many of these homes are having that much company during the day that they need 30 feet of parking.

We don't park directly in front of their homes nor do we take all of the area in front of their homes. We have been verbally abused, promised vengeance on our cars and some have actually followed through with their threats. It feels really great to get off the bus after a hard day and see your tires have been punched.

Local government is saying "car pool or commute" to help with the traffic problem, especially now with the Martin Luther King renovation project. Edwardsville and Collinsville have park and ride in their area, what does Granite City have? A bunch of selfish and self-centered residents who have no regard for anyone but themselves. DISGUSTED COMMUTER

Shocked to find U.S. flag stolen from home

To the editor:

On Monday morning (Memorial Day) my daughter and I were shocked to discover that the flag we had on display for the whole weekend was missing (stolen).

We can hardly believe that anyone could stoop so low as to steal a flag from the porch of a private residence on such a patriotic holiday.

This flag had a great deal of sentimental value to us because it was the one we had been displaying for the past 25 years.

We ask that the thief or thieves who stole the flag return it to its proper place on the special hook at 2645 State St.

Local news from capital

Our newspaper is proud to be the point of focus for all the local news emphasis on hometown news.

That's because we've learned local news is what you most want from us and we'd be unresponsive (nice word for dumb) not to listen to you.

But in July 1987, we began printing news articles written by a syndicated service based in Washington D.C.

The saying goes that you can't have your cake and eat it too, you rascal you, but we can and have for almost a year.

We're actually able to provide more local news by employing States News Service to produce stories coming out of Washington, the seat of our nation's government and our nation's pants.

SNS is a 15-year-old service provided by the New York Times Syndicate to subscribing newspapers such as ours. The philosophy of the Capital-based service is that SNS should write news from Washington that has local interest — an angle that meets the specific interest of readers here.

That means that though they work among the great, near great and Ed Meeses of Washington, the prosaic mission of SNS reporters is to provide stories relevant to our readers. Those stories have included the presidential campaign efforts of U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, bird-dogging funds gathered in the 21st Congressional District race between Jerry Costello and Bob Gaffner, and many other national-level items relating to us on the home front.

In effect, according to an editor of the Wilmington (N.C.) Morning Star, "(SNS) puts a local reporter in the nation's capital. One of the advantages is that they assign a reporter to you, and you can almost treat that reporter as a staff reporter."

Because of that ability to place local emphasis on stories from the capital, we've joined in using SNS with other papers such as the Miami Herald, San Francisco Examiner and Houston Chronicle.

Though we've got access to a "big paper" news service, we won't forget our place is here, providing news to the only people who matter — our hometown readers.

On Broadway comes to Venice

VENICE — A touch of feminine elegance has come to town, at 308 Broadway, home of the On Broadway floral and gift shop. Metro Pierson and Cynthia Allen have combined their talents to bring city residents a unique name came to her mother in a dream! takes care of the business side of On Broadway and Cynthia does her thing as a floral designer.

The duo could have taken their shop elsewhere, but as a Venice native, Metro said she wanted to give something back to the community.

"I love Venice and I didn't want to take a business outside a city that's done so much for me," she said.

Of course a floral shop provides flowers, fresh and silk. Metro said, but there's more. "Flowers are feminine and I love that. Most women love flowers, and we also love items for our home," she said.

That why the shop, in addition to flowers, offers creations in brass, and collectible figurines.

She said customers will further find balloons for all occasions.

"There's nothing like this," Metro said. "We needed something like this. It's an enhancement to the city and its residents."

"Few people are cut out for operating their own business, but Metro and Cynthia say they are up to it."

"I've always been a person who will help a person," Metro said. "Through a business, I will help many, many people."

Isenburg selected BPW president other officers installed at meeting

The 1988-89 officers were installed at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's monthly meeting May 18 at Charlie's Restaurant.

Honored in an installation ceremony conducted by Emylee Alford, a past president of the organization, were President Jane Isenburg, President-elect Gloria Druhe, 1st Vice President Ruth Ann Gabriel, Secretary Debbie Ming and Treasurer Sylvia Pashka.

Isenburg has been a teacher in the Granite City School District for 22 years and currently is a learning center teacher at Parkview Elementary School. She is a graduate of Illinois State University and holds a master's degree and administrative certification from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Isenburg is a member of the National Council of Teachers of English, Granite City Council for Gifted Children, Parkway PTA and Beta Sigma Phi.

She recently received PTA Book of Recognition and PTA Teacher of Excellence awards.

Isenburg's husband, Steve, is a social studies teacher at Coolidge Junior High School. They have a son, Jeffrey, and a daughter, Amy.

In business at the meeting, plans were announced for a fund-raiser yard sale to sponsor scholarships and educational activities to be held from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 11 at 1000 W. Canton Road.

Also discussed was the Granite City BPW's participation in the Shriners' parade. The members marched as clowns.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Stan Fornaszewski.

The next meeting of the Granite City BPW will be held on Wednesday, June 15, at Charlie's Restaurant. Anyone interested in attending may contact Becky Slate at 452-5391.

About real estate

By Don Campbell

Lack of original deed shouldn't be problem

Dear Mr. Campbell: Last May I bought a condo from HUD (the Department of Housing and Urban Development). It was one that had been foreclosed on and I paid cash for it — the checks had to be made out to me and I endorsed them in the office the day of the closing. I have never received the original deed. When I called my real estate broker he checked on it and was told it had been mailed. When I persisted that I had not received it, they mailed me a photocopy of the deed but I still have not received the original. The transaction has been recorded in my name in the recorder's office. What I want to know is, will it cause me any trouble when I go to sell the unit if I do not have the original deed?

H.G.
Answer: Don't worry about it. As long as the transaction and the change of ownership have been duly recorded you'll have no problems. It's becoming more and more common for sensitive documents like this to be held by the lender — or the issuing entity — as a safeguard against loss, or as a stopgap in the event of some legal question arising about it, five or 10 years down the road.

Remember the old mortgage-burning ceremonies that churches used to stage when the indebtedness was paid off? Well, even with paid-up mortgages, most such ceremonies now feature photostats, too. And when was the last time you encountered anyone who had his "original" birth certificate in his possession?

Dear Mr. Campbell: I just moved into a new house. I believe my neighbors did not realize that the property they put stepping stones down on in order to walk to their back yard belongs to me. I don't mind them doing so, but a few people have told me that eventually the property will belong to them if I allow them to keep the stepping stones there. Is this true? The neighbors are aware of the situation now, but have not offered to remove the stones.

S.Z.
Answer: Wouldn't it be easier to take a short-cut, through your living room?

No, I see what your friends are thinking about — it's called "adverse possession," or a "prescriptive easement" — and there have been some scary stories about them in the past.

However, Steve Sokol, the legal counsel for the California Association of Realtors, said your neighbor's stepping stones will not result in a scary story. Adverse possession kicks in only if the neighbors were using that strip of land as if it were theirs and were doing so exclusively, which they obviously are not.

Just to put everyone's mind to rest, though, Sokol suggests that you draw up a simple, one-paragraph agreement for the neighbor's signature, which says, in effect, "I'm giving you permission to retain these stepping stones... it's fine with me. However, if the times come when I should ask you to remove the stones, you agree to that portion of my yard, you will agree to this."

Limited partnerships not right for everyone

By Bob Hardestad

There are many types of investments in the investment world. Along with each type of investment comes different types of risks. Before making any investment decision, the investor should always know the risk involved.

Since the Oct. 19 pull-back in the stock market, many investors have wanted to enter investments that have nothing to do with the stock market. One of those investment areas is the limited-partnership investment.

A limited partnership is an investment where there is one general partner and several limited partners. The limited partner places a certain investment into the partnership on day one and possibly a promissory note for more cash down line. The limited partner is guaranteed that his total risk exposure is his initial investment or promissory note. Regardless of how bad the limited partnership does on its anticipated returns, the limited partner never has to come up with any additional funds.

Limited-partnership programs venture in all types of investments. Real estate, equipment, metals, computers and mini warehouses are just a few.

Most limited partnerships are developed over a long period of time. The average limited partnership usually runs between five and 12 years. This is not to say that an investor could not get out sooner but most limited partnerships are built on their returns being substantiated over a long period of time.

Limited partnerships usually are concerned with growth or income. Many partnerships pay a substantial amount of their income on a tax-free basis.

If you consider a limited partnership make sure that you read the prospectus thoroughly and understand the risks involved and sleep syndrome with your broker. "Probably the most important thing to remember when purchasing a limited partnership is that you are buying into a long-term investment."

Make sure that the limited partnership is investing in a product or equipment that you feel will still be valuable in seven to 12 years.

Limited partnerships are not for everyone but as long as you know your total exposure and your length of investment time, you then can make the right decision on your investment product.

Selling-to-government conference scheduled

"The federal government buys every product or service that is made," Connie Roeder said. "But it helps to know how to bid for government contracts and deal with the paperwork."

Roeder is the conference director for "Finding Your Customer in the Government Marketplace," a workshop designed to link small business with purchasing agents from federal and local governments, sponsored by the St. Louis University School of Business and Administration Center for Sponsored Programs in cooperation with the Defense Logistics Agency.

It is scheduled to be held from 8:45 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 27 at Noah's Ark, Interstate 70 and 27th Street in St. Charles, Mo. The cost is $30, which includes lunch.

More than 1,500 small businesses participated in conferences held last year and 350 of them, responding to a post-conference survey, reported contracts with the federal government since the conference, totaling $29 million.

The program will open with a segment covering "How to sell manufactured products to government agencies" presented by representatives of the U.S. Army Aviation Systems Command, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Small Business Administration.

Next, a number of current prime contractors and subcontractors will tell their experiences with business dealings with the federal government.

"We encourage new businesses to try subcontracting because they need contend only with meeting the requirements of the contractor," Roeder said.

This will be followed with current presentations by representatives from purchasing divisions for the State of Missouri,

St. Louis County and the City of St. Charles and a small business advocate attorney who will explain some of the pitfalls and benchmarks of contracting with the federal government.

U.S. Rep. Jack Buechner will address the luncheon. His planned topic is current issues facing small businesses.

After lunch, sessions will address the marketing of the specific services and products of conference participants to the various federal agencies.

Throughout the day, representatives from more than 20 government agencies, a number of prime contractors and private consultants will be available to meet individually with the participants.

More details may be obtained by calling (314) 534-7232.

Attorney General introduces bill designed to protect job hunters

SPRINGFIELD — A bill that would protect consumers who use job listing services has passed the House and is now before the Senate, according to Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan, who drafted the measure.

House bill 3662 creates the Job Referral and Job Listing Services Consumer Protection Act. It was prompted by an increasing number of problems with so-called job listing services.

"In the past year, my office has received 500 complaints involving job listing services," Hartigan said. "These companies are not licensed or regulated as private employment agencies. This bill will ensure that people who do business with a job listing service will be dealt with fairly."

"Job listing services primarily involve a cash transaction for which a job seeker is entitled to receive employment referrals for a one-year period."

"In the past, subscribers have been referred to jobs that do not exist, or to businesses that have no openings at the time. In addition, a number of services have taken in money and provided no referrals."

The major provisions of House Bill 3662 are:

• That a contract with a job seeker's specifications for employment, and that the contract must be limited to 90 days.

• That if the service fails to provide three employment opportunities meeting contract specifications, the job seeker will receive a refund within 10 days.

• That the job service must make clear in its advertising that it is not an employment agency and that an advance fee is required.

• That the Attorney General's Office must be given access to records that are required to be kept by the services.

• That there be provisions for enforcement by state's attorneys or the attorney general under the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Business Practices Act.

"This is a modest bill to provide a solution to a growing problem," Hartigan said. "With this law, we can avoid problems in this industry before they grow further."

Consumer tips

Consumer protected in cases of disputed bills

By Neil F. Hartigan
Illinois attorney general

Q. I had to sign a blank credit card slip before a rental car company would let me drive one of theirs.

A. It seems common sense would dictate not to sign a blank credit card slip since it states that the cardholder agrees to pay the amount indicated. Does this sound like a deceptive practice?

A. The car rental company asks for the pre-signed slip because it wants the security of knowing it can collect if you damage or steal the car or try to skip out on the bill.

Some companies will require you to pre-sign if you're going to pick up a car at one location and drop it off elsewhere. You have to trust a company to bill you fairly and mail you a receipt.

Before pre-signing a charge slip, ask the salesperson how much of your credit line will be tied up and when the hold will be lifted. You might have to switch to another card or to use cash until the hold clears.

You're not without protection on pre-signed credit slips.

If you dispute the final bill, you're protected under the Fair Credit Billing Act, which allows you to withhold payment of disputed charges.

To do that, you must write the credit card company at the "billing error" address given on your monthly statement within 60 days of the time you receive it. The letter must include your name, account number, the amount of the error, and an explanation of the problem.

If you win the dispute, you don't have to pay the amount in question or any finance charges. If the company wins, you have to pay the bill in full, plus any additional finance charges.

College funds sought

If your son is a junior in high school and will not graduate until next year. He wants to attend college next year, but we don't have money to fully pay for his education. Who should we talk to regarding financial assistance for his education?

A. As the cost of education beyond high school has increased, paying for that education has become a concern for many students and their families.

It is important that families begin planning to pay for college education long before that education actually begins. Knowing where to begin is important.

Your high school counselors, admissions officers, financial aid administrators, and lenders can explain the logical approaches to paying for college.

These approaches require an understanding of the partnership in financing higher education. This partnership includes students, their families, state and federal governments, lending institutions, individual schools, colleges and universities.

Even though individual family financial planning is a very personal thing, advice and help are available. Beginning to understand the financial aid process should, for most students, start in the high school counseling office or the college financial aid office.

Here, students can find the proper forms and/or information to apply for aid programs which are funded by the federal government. Beginning to understand the financial aid process should, for most students, start in the high school counseling office or the college financial aid office.

For more information, you may contact your local Attorney General's Office or write the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, Attention: Client Support Services, 106 Wilmot Road, Decatur, Ill. 62521, or call (217) 782-2577, (312) 793-3745.

Realtors: Housing should become national priority

By Angela Shearer
Real Estate Board
Of Metropolitan St. Louis

The benefits of homeownership — to the individual, to society and to the economy — outweigh the benefits of renting. However, for many younger and low-income Americans, the dream of homeownership has remained just that — a dream, according to a study released by the National Association of Realtors.

"Our study confirms the fact that both owners and renters consider homeownership an important value to protect in this country," says Nestor R. Weigand, a Realtor from Wichita, Kan.

"We hope this will stimulate this nation's policymakers to pursue options that will help people make the transition from renter to homeowner."

The study, "Homeownership: Key to the American Dream," includes results of a late-1986 survey of 3,200 renter and owner households by Market Facts, a Chicago-based research firm. The analysis, done by NAR researchers and economists, examines why people do and don't own a home.

One of the biggest obstacles to homeownership, according to the study, is accumulating enough money for a down payment.

Dr. John A. Tuccillo, NAR's

chief economist who directed the study, says that 70 percent of the renters surveyed cited accumulation of a down payment as the major deterrent to buying a home, while 47 percent said housing prices are too high. Forty-five percent said they have a good rental situation and 30 percent said they would have trouble affording monthly house payments and monthly maintenance costs. (Many respondents cited more than one problem, thus the percentages total more than 100.)

"Nearly nine out of every 10 Americans believe owning a home is part of the good life — placing greater value on homeownership than owning a car, a happy marriage, an interesting job and even a color television set," Tuccillo says.

"Additionally, 55 percent of renters surveyed said they would 'very much' like to own their own home," he says. "However, accumulating enough money for a down payment was the biggest obstacle to homeownership."

Down-payment assistance plans, a broadened mortgage-revenue bond program, tax credits to encourage purchase and rehabilitation of central city structures, and reduced front-end fees on mortgages were among the policy options reviewed in NAR's study.

NEW ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF: Charlie Bernaix is sworn in last week as the assistant chief of the Granite City Fire Department by City Clerk Bob Stevens. He succeeds George Moran, who retired from that post. Bernaix has been on the department for 16 years, the last two of which he has served as captain.

DUIs

Three charges filed

Sandra A. Ritz, 28, 2204 Lee Ave., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, speeding, and fleeing and attempting to elude police when arrested by a Venetia officer at 2:15 a.m. May 25 in the 1400 block of Seventh Street, Madison.

Patrolman Neal Mize said Ritz's car was clocked on radar traveling 50 mph in a 30 mph zone in the 700 block of Fourth Street, Venetia. The officer activated the lights and siren on the police car. Ritz allegedly refused to stop and turned onto Broadway.

At Second Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, the pursuing officer said, he drew alongside Ritz's car with the motorist then speeding up and continuing north on Madison Avenue before turning onto Seventh Street and stopping. Taken to the Granite City Court later the same day, she was released on a $3,000 recognizance bond pending a June 23 appearance in the Edwardsville court.

Motorcyclist charged

A motorcyclist allegedly traveling 99 mph along Broadway, Venetia, was arrested at 4 a.m. May 15. Jimmy B. Hardline, 28, 3825 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, speeding and driving in violation of his driver license classification.

After being clocked in a 30 mph zone, the motorcycle was stopped at a parking lot in the 1000 block of Broadway. After a breathalyzer test at the Madison Police Station, he was released on $302 cash bail.

pending a June 9 appearance in the Granite City Court. A passenger was riding with Hartline, reports said.

DUI in Madison alleged

Madison police arrested Leroy E. Johnson, 54, 900 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City, May 27 and charged him with driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage. Police alleged seeing Johnson at 12:35 a.m. driving north in the 600 block of McCambridge Avenue. Officers halted him and administered a field test for alcohol, which he failed. He also later failed a breathalyzer test, authorities said.

Q. If a person has an additional source of income, other than his full-time job, should they be reported on a loan application?

A. Yes. When applying for a loan, you should report additional income besides your normal income, to help support your loan application. You should be aware you may be asked to support such information. If, for example, you indicate a monthly income from investments of $1,000, you may be asked for proof. Also, income from alimony may or may not be included, at your discretion, on certain types of loans. Every loan application is required to carry a statement indicating that alimony or child support income need not be revealed if the applicant does not wish to do so. If you feel your regular earned income will not be substantial in applying for a loan, it would probably be a good idea to indicate alimony or child support. Again, depending on the nature of the loan, the amount and the purpose to which the funds will be put, you may be required to submit proof of such payments.

Police officer injured
Patrolman Steven Shelby suffered a broken thumb in the line of duty at 4:28 a.m. May 22. He had ordered a truck driver, Richard L. Waits, 32, St. Louis, to move a vehicle from in front of 511 Washington Ave. Waits allegedly became abusive and threatening, and Shelby and another officer subdued him. During the scuffle, Waits is said to have struck at Shelby, who received the thumb injury. Waits was booked for battery, resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and parking an overweight truck on a prohibited street.

Fight near police station
James Kennedy Price, 23, 1731 Market St., was arrested the evening of May 26 in the Madison Police Station, 1529 Third St., following an incident outside on the parking lot. Price allegedly fought Tracy Harrell in her auto; she drove to the police station, where a bystander reported the scuffle outside to Dispatcher Tim Granderson. Granderson said he took Price into the police station and asked him to take a seat in the interview room, with Price refusing and swinging at Granderson. Two other officers arrived and Price was booked for battery, assault and disorderly conduct.

Texas fugitive arrested
Willie Louis Morris, 38, East St. Louis, was arrested at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203, at 3:30 a.m. May 27. Police had stopped and questioned the driver of a car in which Morris was a passenger. Officers ran computer checks on the three occupants of the auto and discovered Texas warrant on Morris, alleging aggravated robbery with a deadly weapon. Morris was taken to the St. Clair County Jail for extradition to Austin, Texas.

Woman struck, kicked
Larry D. Wimberly, 27, 115 Greener Homes, was arrested and booked for battery after he allegedly punched and kicked Nadine Pointer, 1541 Market St., at 10:30 p.m. May 26 outside a residence at 1647 Market.

Charges against driver
John Robert Schnuck, 51, 2016 Sikeen St., was arrested at 11:59 p.m. May 21 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and failing to give information after a traffic accident.

Granite City police

Woman alleges battery

Timothy L. Hendricks, 28, 2415 Benton St., was arrested and booked for battery June 6. Hendricks reportedly was in a car chase with Donna Hendricks, 24, 2540 Parkway No. 2; when both stopped their cars outside 2415 Benton St. he allegedly pulled her out of her car by the hair and a fistfight started.

Two occupants arrested

Robert Eugen Polach, 36, 2015 Washington Ave., Apt. 3, was arrested June 4 and charged with assault of the owner of his apartment building, Jerald L. Ragan, 55, 1412 25th St.

Ragan reportedly went to the building June 4, found Fred Oliver, 61, no known address, sleeping in a vacant apartment and told Oliver to leave. Oliver allegedly told Ragan he was paying Polach for the right to reside with him. Police located Oliver and booked him for criminal trespass and resisting arrest. Polach allegedly began threatening Ragan and was arrested.

$120 burglary reported

Debbie Susan Brice, 31, 904 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported June 4 the burglary from her apartment of six $20 bills.

Public indecency charged

James L. Miller, 23, 1734 Second St., Madison, was arrested June 4 in an alley near 20th and Benton streets and was charged with public indecency. Miller allegedly exposed himself to two Granite City women, aged 21 and 18, who were riding their bicycles nearby.

$511 taken from office

An employee of Farmers Insurance Group, 1522 Pontoon Road, reported May 24 a burglar had broken into and ransacked the office and taken $511.

Parked car burglarized

Greg James, 22, 3242 Westchester Drive, reported May 25 the burglary of his car parked in front of 3238 Westchester. Taken were a video cassette player valued at $250, an AM/FM cassette player worth $300 and a power booster valued at $70.

Apartment burglarized

Harold Daily, 36, 2001 Washington Ave., reported the burglary May 25 of $75 in food stamps and $3 in coins from his apartment.

Burglar takes oven, TV

Patricia Elaine Presley, 2410 Edison Ave., reported June 1 that a burglar had broken into her home and taken a microwave oven valued at $300, a typewriter valued at $250, a color television valued at $250 and a stereo valued at $125.

Alleged froggnappers caught green-handed

GRANITE CITY—Checking a report of possible prowlers using flashlights at the rear of the 2700 block of Dale Avenue at 12:30 a.m. June 4, police were unable to locate anyone, but about an hour later when they investigated a second call they bagged two people and some four-legged critters.

In response to the second report, officers searched the area of the Metro East Sanitary District drainage ditch at the rear of Dale Avenue and alleged seeing two men run from the back of a dwelling toward Dale and Elm avenues. Officers talked with the men, Frank A. Finazzo, 34, 4032 Kathy Drive, and Loren E. Wilson, 41, 2605 E. 25th St.

Both men were wearing hip waders and denied they had been prowling, saying they'd just put a canoe in the rear yard at 2705 Dale Avenue.

A small yellow canoe, equipped with flashlights, two pole pigs and an ice chest, was located in the yard. The ice chest was empty. The homeowner at that address said he knew both men and let them put the canoe in the yard.

Meanwhile, an officer learned that Finazzo apparently was driving while his driver license was suspended and his truck was stopped by police near Edgewood and Wilson avenues.

This time, an officer heard noise and movement in the truck's open bed, which contained a metal mesh fish basket.

Seven live bullfrogs and two dead bullfrogs allegedly were inside the truck bed and the men were held for Officer Walter Knox of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Finazzo was charged with taking bullfrogs during closed season, taking over the limit of bullfrogs, taking bullfrogs without a license on his person, and driving while his license was suspended.

Wilson was charged with taking bullfrogs during closed season and taking more than the limit of bullfrogs.

Venice police

$600 shed, 2 trees burn

Firemen extinguished a fire at the home of James Gardner, 510 Mercedia Ave., where a shed and two trees were set ablaze by trash burning in a pit May 18. The shed had an estimated value of about $600 and was destroyed.

Theft charge filed

Elizabeth M. Cage, 32, 1218 Oriole St., was arrested May 21 while walking in the 1200 block of Oriole Street and was charged with theft after allegedly taking $100 from the purse of a neighbor.

Sandra Mathis, 1216 Oriole, alleged Cage came into her residence May 21 and asked to use the telephone. Mathis said she was out of the room for a short time and later discovered $100 was missing from her purse.

Apartment door damaged

Robert L. Glover Jr., 20, Alton, was charged with criminal damage to property June 2 after allegedly damaging a door at the apartment of Kossella Harman, 406-D Bissell St. He was released after posting $52 cash bail.

Neighbors report incident

Elizabeth Cage, 1218 Oriole St., alleged an East St. Louis man came to her house and swung at her, knocking her down, June 1. She also alleged the man kicked and pushed her into a door before she broke free and ran outside.

Devan J. Melton, 1216 Oriole St., said he heard Cage yell and went outdoors. The same man then hit him with a tire tool, injuring his right arm, Melton said.

DUIs

Driver faces six charges

Gary L. Norris, 41, 2106 E. 24th St., was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and with five other offenses when arrested June 3 in the 2200 block of Monroe Street.

A patrolman was directing traffic at 23rd Street and Lee Avenue, due to a fire department vehicle blocking the roadway. When the driver of a 1974 car was waved to a stop and told to go south on Lee Avenue, the car almost struck him, the officer alleged.

The motorist, later identified as Norris, allegedly backed up the auto, nearly hitting a parked car, and then back up again and bumped a parked auto. There was no damage to the parked vehicle.

Kenneth D. Bone, 27, 2249 Washington Ave., a passenger in Norris' car, got out and the officer alleged seeing an open can of beer inside the auto. Norris was ordered to get out of the car but allegedly drove away, turning left onto Monroe Street.

Police Capt. Kip Pomeroy and Sgt. J.W. Apperson attempted to box in Norris' vehicle, but the driver squeezed between the two patrol cars and hit another parked car, which also sustained no damage reports said.

After Norris' car was stopped and a registration check made, police found the license plate on the car was registered to a 1974 auto of another make, owned by Shirley J. Howell, 2106 E. 24th St.

Norris declined to take a breathalyzer test and was charged with DUI, fleeing and attempting to elude police, driving while his driver license was suspended, unlawful display of registration, improper backing, and illegal transportation of alcohol.

Howell was charged with improper use of registration and permitting an unauthorized person to drive. She was released upon posting her driver license.

Bone was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol and also was freed after posting his driver license.

Public radio stations in big battle for bucks

The relationship between commercial and non-commercial radio stations is becoming hostile. Executives from nationwide public radio stations recently attended the Public Radio Conference at the Adam's Mark Hotel in downtown St. Louis to learn how to generate more revenue at the expense of commercial broadcasters.

National Public Radio (NPR) has lobbied Congress to create a spectrum fee aimed at users of federally licensed communications frequencies. They also are lobbying for the creation of a public trust fund, where monies from the spectrum fee would be deposited and reserved for non-commercial stations.

Mary Lou Joseph, the director of national affairs for National Public Radio, said the potential is high for the special funding. "I have been told on Capitol Hill that the spectrum fee will be a reality within two years," Joseph said. "It won't happen this year because it is an election year but it probably will happen next year."

She said the Senate Commerce Committee reported that $504 million could be collected in 1991, the first year of the proposed plan.

Money for public radio stations has been hard to come by. KWMU-FM (90.3), the public radio station at the University of Missouri — St. Louis has eliminated three full-time positions this year.

Joseph said that Sen. Robert

Packwood, R-Ore., has led the legislative objection to the public trust fund. She also said that Sen. John Danforth, R-Missouri, has been targeted by NPR for a lobbying effort.

Richard Eiswerth, general manager of the West Virginia Educational Broadcasting Authority said a local lobbying effort has worked.

Senator Robert Byrd, (D-West Virginia) and the Senate majority leader was pressured heavily by the National Association of Broadcasters and the West Virginia Broadcasters Association to vote against the funding," Eiswerth said. "So we lobbied hard to editors of newspapers. In fact, the Huntington, paper came out with an editorial in favor of the spectrum fee. They are owned by Gannett whose national position was not in favor of the fee."

Joseph gave another reason to create the fund. "The Public Trust Fund takes you out of competition with other worthwhile social causes," she said.

"You won't have to compete against the American Cancer Society and the like," she said that frequent listener fundraising drives could be curtailed. Dan Phythyon, a lawyer for the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB), said their position is not opposed to the trust fund but the method of funding. He said the money should come from a tax on consumer items like televisions and video cassette recorders. But Joseph said that plan used in Great Britain has failed.

Panelists mentioned that commercial broadcasters also object to the commercial sound of public stations. Dick Williams, general manager for WIL-AM/FM (1430 and 92.3) echoed that sentiment.

"What do you hear and see on public broadcasting? You hear their underwriters on the air using slogans and see them on television using logos," Williams said. "They are practically in the commercial broadcasting."

"How else are they competing? They advertise their station just like we do — they use newspaper and billboards. They're looking to steal our revenues and our listeners. Plus their programming isn't that terribly unique — they sound more and more like what commercial stations are doing."

Would commercial stations blow the whistle to the Federal Communications Commission on non-commercial radio stations that step out of line and air underwriting messages that sound like commercials? "I doubt it — it would be a terribly unpopular move," Williams said. "I guess we'll have to lobby as hard against the fee as they are for it."

NPR executives also heard some harsh words from the advertising sector. Williams Alenson, the director of advertising for United Airlines gave the pros and cons.

"We support the high quality programs that NPR stations broadcast," he said. "You attract the high-income audience and our target is the business executive who is the frequent flyer."

"But our position is that we have to get our message across. If there are no slogans or promotional music, our underwriting becomes a worthless corporate message from an advertising standpoint."

'Moto' stirs things up among Warrior rooters

There are probably many things a lot of Granite City baseball fans would rather see than what happened Monday.

Yes, Tom Pile and the Edwardsville Tigers are going to the state tournament and they clinched a berth right here at Varsity Field. To some, that's kind of like the New York Mets clinching the East Division at Busch Stadium.

No, the Edwardsville Tigers are not very well liked in Granite City. The flamboyant Pile, known affectionately as "Moto" in Edwardsville, certainly has no desire to be loved in opposing cities. He'll say anything and everything to reporters. This makes him a sportswriter's dream. It also can create some sticky situations.

Such a situation came up last week after the Tigers' win over Jerseyville in the regional finals. Pile was complimenting the Panther players on their behavior and then cut loose.

"Brad Brown (of Jerseyville) struck out once with a couple of strikes," Pile said. "He was frustrated. But he went back to the dugout, laid his helmet and bat down and didn't say anything. Teams like Granite City, they throw bats, they throw helmets. It's just a difference in programs."

Most coaches would compliment another team's behavior, but they wouldn't contrast them publicly with another team. But Pile is honest and he says what he feels.

I was present when he made those comments, but I chose not to use them. In my opinion, it's all right for the Mets and Cardinals to take shots at one another and for Jeffrey Leonard to speak his mind. The pros make a lot of money and they should be able to handle themselves.

Optimists blank Yankees, 11-0

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — After an exciting weekend at Varsity Field with the Class AA Sectional, things were relatively calm and peaceful there Tuesday evening.

The summer baseball season has arrived and the Granite City Optimists Junior Legion team is on the warpath again. They raised their record to 2-1 with an 11-0, five-inning blanking of the East St. Louis Yankees.

"I knew we had some hitters," said Optimists third base coach Carl Benson. "We were just overmatched the other day that Highland pitcher (Kirt Ervin). Some of the guys who were overmatched Saturday hit some shots tonight."

Although the Optimists have only two players back from last summer's 22-9 team, they have several players who saw varying degrees of varsity action during the high school season. Based on the way he swung the bat at times for the Warriors, Keith Matlock could have a feast against Junior Legion pitching. Matlock had a single, a double and a hard line drive out in Tuesday's game.

"We have eight pitchers on this year's team," said Benson. "That's a luxury for us. We usually have to struggle to get enough pitchers. But we're a little short on position players right now."

Brian Harshany started Tuesday's game and pitched four innings of one-hit ball. Lefty Darren Huffman finished up with a 1-2-3 fifth. Other pitchers who saw at least some varsity action include Kevin Wozniak, Jamie Needham and Rich Schardan. And the Optimists again have Chris Wiehardt, who along with Matt Cook formed the heart of last summer's staff. Wiehardt was in a serious automobile accident last fall and is just now rounding into pitching condition.

"He still walks with a limp," Benson said. "But he looked pretty good the other day. We've told him this is a big test this summer for him if he wants to pitch in high school next year."

The Optimists wasted little time jumping on Yankee starter Charles Peabody in the first. Matlock doubled Harshany to third with one out, then Schardan delivered a sacrifice fly. With two outs, Mike Mueller had an RBI infield hit, Matt Scherke doubled one home and Mike Young reached in another inning. Mance walked against new pitcher Terrell James before first baseman Tony Sternberg tripped over the right fielder's head for two more runs and a 6-0 lead.

Tony was one who was really overmatched on Saturday, when Ervin struck out 13 and the Optimists lost the season opener 7-1," Benson said. "But these kids will gain confidence as the year goes on."

The Optimists put the game away with five in the third. Troy Adamitis — with Wiehardt, the only returnee from 1987 — and Rich Schardan both had two-run doubles and Schardan scored on Mueller's hit. The Optimists finished with nine hits and benefited from six walks and a hit batsman.

Harshany walked four and hit one in four innings. The leadoff runners, Brian David Jr. and Doug Buehrer of Granite City reached the semifinals and won trophies.

"I think this team is going to be all right," said Benson. "Ervin just blew us away, but we won't see many pitchers like him. There won't be too many who throw more than 75 miles an hour."

Bequette makes all-SWC 1st team

Michelle Bequette earned first-team recognition on the All-Southwestern Conference softball team announced this week.

Bequette was the only member of the Warriors on the first team. The sophomore catcher was one of Granite City's top hitters and developed into a fine catcher in her sophomore year.

Senior outfielder Tracy Gaudette was named to the second team. Honorable mention selections from Granite City included senior pitcher Tammy LeVault, sophomore first baseman Jennifer Cavness, senior second baseman Kathy Lewis and sophomore shortstop Kim Pawlak.

Conference champion Belleville West led the way with seven first-team selections and 11 selections in all. The Maroons had a 10-0 conference record.

Unlike 1987, when Warriors were all over the all-conference baseball team, no Granite City player appears this year until the honorable mention list.

John Moad was honorable mention in two positions — pitcher and first base. Moad was 7-2 with a 3.78 earned run average. He batted .278 with a home run and 15 RBIs. Craig Dippel was the only other Warrior who received honorable mention. He was a .370 hitter with 15 RBIs. He led the team in doubles (seven) and singles (37), total bases (60) and stolen bases (11).

Joe Wallace, the sophomore catcher who led the Warriors in virtually every offensive category, was conspicuous by his absence on the all-conference list.

Cozair wins scholarship money in IJAT tournament at Bowland

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — For at least one weekend, Granite City was the bowling capital of Illinois. And the town didn't disappoint anyone.

The Illinois Junior Amateur Tour came to Bowland 5050 Nameoki Road, for one of its regular events last weekend and with a roaring success. Blake Bell of St. Louis took the big prize with a $2,500 scholarship.

Granite City's John Cozair, 14, came away with $175 in scholarship money. Scholarship money is awarded to bowlers who can get seven strikes in a row. Cozair bowled a 266. He will be a freshman at Granite City High School next year.

In all, St. Louis metropolitan area youths won $7,675 in scholarships. Brian David Jr. and Doug Buehrer of Granite City reached the semifinals and won trophies.

"It was one of the most enjoyable," (See IJAT, Page 3D)

Mike Wallace stays on a roll

By Joe Senter
correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Mike Wallace is quickly establishing himself once again as the driver to be watched at Tri-City Speedway.

Wallace made off with another clean sweep in the U.M.P. late model stock cars on Saturday. He started the feature event in the ninth spot and moved his Trans Am into the lead on the 12th lap, outkunning Tom Helrich, who had inherited the lead from Bill Shaw after two laps.

Lou Fritz lost his car in the third turn, landing on the guardrail. He was unhurt but had to drop out of the race. Chasing Wallace to the checkered flag were Helrich, Shaw, Billy West Jr. and Rodney Dial. Wallace and Helrich took the heat races.

Ron Lamborch of Owensboro, Ky., was the victor in the mini-sprints, a small version of the big outlaw sprint cars. The mini-sprints sport wings on the tires and do some fast and fancy racing. Jimmy Neely finished second in the 25-lap event, followed by Ron Davis, David Scheek and Ron Smith. Lamborch also took his heat race and Jerry Beals took the other.

John Stanton won the street stock car main event as he was chased most of the race by Granite City's Tim Hancock. Hancock hung on the side of Stanton attempting to take over the lead, but had to settle for second place. Barry Seiler was third. Steve Meyers Sr., Seiler, Marty Kopp and Don Patton won heat races.

Darren Forest sneaked into the winner's circle in the super modifieds as he outgunned John Hanner Jr., Dick Carroll, Vince Grondzki and Ron Taylor. Don Cruzen and Taylor took the heat races.

Tom Seets was the sportsman's car winner at Godfrey Speedway on Friday. Maury Bargett won the street stock cars. Mike Chowling won the Bomber cars and Phil Heavell won the mini-sprint cars. The speedway has announced there will be a special 40-lap U.M.P. late model stock car race this Saturday with $3,000 going to the winner, $1,000 going to second place and $1,000 to third. The sportsman's cars will run the 40-lap feature with the winner taking home $1,000.

Gates open at 6 p.m. with racing at 8 p.m.

Breaking ground

CEREMONIES were held Monday to signal the beginning of construction of the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame building. The building, approximately 85 x 75 feet, will be located just south of Memorial Stadium on the grounds of Granite City High School. There will be restrooms, concession stands and ticket windows in addition to the display area for plaques commemorating Hall of Fame members.

YMCA Golf Classic set for July 9

The sixth annual Tri-City Area YMCA Golf Classic will be held July 9 at the Oakbrook Golf Course.

Limited reservations are being taken. There will be a steak social after the tournament at the Amvets Post, 1711 Kennedy Drive, Madison.

The tournament will be a four-person flighted scramble. Tee-off time is 8:15 a.m. The cost for registration for golf and the steak social is $65, $30 for the steak social only.

Campbell keeps reeling in Sr. Olympic medals at age 70

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor

To those who know Jim Campbell, his latest accomplishments come as no surprise.

Why, things have even become a little easier for Campbell since he turned 70 earlier this year. That makes him the youngest in his age group of Senior Olympics competition.

Campbell, 2103 Bryan Ave., Granite City, won five more medals at the 10th annual Southwestern Illinois Regional Senior Olympics competition at SIUE recently.

He may need a new address soon just to store all the medals he has won in the Senior Olympics. His latest haul gave him 52 medals over the years, including 36 gold medals.

Now, since he's one of the youngest in the 70-75 age group instead of one of the oldest in the 65-69 group, the seemingly tireless Campbell should be ready for more.

"It gives me something to do," he said matter-of-factly, seemingly unaware that most men half his age have no desire to put in the kind of training he does.

"I swim seven days a week down at the YMCA," he said. "I do a half mile in the pool every morning. And I go out and run over the (18th Street) viaduct every morning. I usually run about three miles every day, although I once ran six miles in a cross country race in 1982."

To relax, Campbell plays pool at the Granite City Township Hall. But that also helped him at the Regional Senior Olympics.

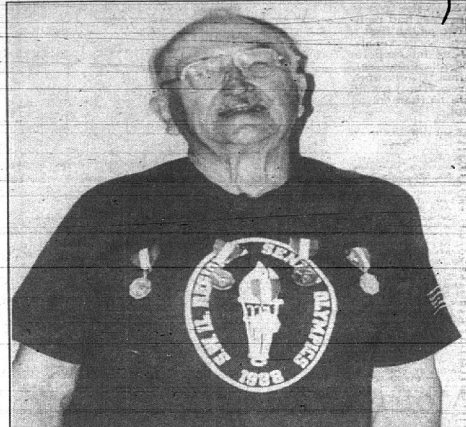

He took a gold medal in the 100-yard breaststroke swimming competition; silver medals in the 200-yard freestyle, the 100-yard freestyle and billiards (8 ball); and a bronze medal in the 1500 meter run. Campbell also took a fifth in the 1500 meter walk, perhaps indicating he's more into the high-speed events.

Although he skipped the St. Louis Senior Olympics last week, Campbell is in training for the state competition in Springfield in September. And when the National Senior Olympics come to St. Louis again next summer, watch out.

NOTES: Gus and Joyce Lignoul of Granite City continued to do well in the St. Louis Senior Olympics held last week.

Joyce finished second in her age group in bowling (630) and the soccer kick. She also took third in shuffleboard singles and basketball (around the world), and sixth in free throw shooting (10 of 25).

Gus Sr. was first in bowling (743), second in basketball (around the world) and sixth in free throw shooting (20 of 25).

GC gridders start weight training

Summer weight training for all prospective Granite City High School football players will begin next week.

Training will be held in the weight room above the main gym at the high school. All returning football players, plus incoming eighth-grade players, are welcome to attend.

Sessions will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. each Monday, Tuesday and Thursday during the summer, said Warrior coach Ron Yates.

Firemen's softball tourney July 15-17

The Granite City Fire Department will hold its second annual men's softball tournament July 15-17.

The tournament will be at the 3rd Street Diamond in Madison. For more information, call the Granite City Fire Department at 877-0150 or Brian Schmidtko at 876-4709.

Payne to play at Culver-Stockton

Clint Payne, a 1988 graduate of Granite City High School, has signed a letter of intent to play college football at Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo.

Payne was a starter on the defensive line for the 1987 Warriors. He won the "Mr. Hustle" Award at Indiana University's football camp last summer.

"Clint was extremely capable and should climb to the top as a college player," said Warrior coach Ron Yates.

"Clint has a chance to start in one of the 15 defensive line spots," said Culver-Stockton coach Dick Lemke. "I'm very pleased he selected Culver-Stockton for his education and football career."

The 6-3, 247-pounder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Payne of Granite City. Culver-Stockton is a four-year, co-educational college of liberal arts and sciences. It is affiliated with the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

But a war of words like this at the high school level is unappealing to me. Besides, I knew it would get back to Granite City eventually. A copy of a story in another area paper with the Pile quote was tacked on the wall of the concession stand at Varsity Field on Monday, although Bob Stegemeyer had seen it long before then.

"I have just as much pride in my kids as he does in his," Stegemeyer said. "I wish he would come to me if he has a problem rather than talk about it in the papers."

What set Pile off about Granite City is unsure, although it probably didn't help that the Warriors knocked off an excellent Edwardsville team in last year's regional finals. Then a Warrior team that was far inferior to last year's edition travelled to Edwardsville this year and won again.

If the Tigers aren't well-liked here, it might be a comfort to know that the feeling is mutual in Edwardsville.

"We didn't get to play Granite City in the regional this year, but we wish we had," said Tiger pitcher Tom Price. "We never have really liked them and would have liked to have a chance to meet them."

Oh, well, enough on that. Both programs are very successful and it would be a shame if they stopped playing each other. As long as things don't get out of hand, it could just add a little spice to the yearly get-together. In the meantime, it's safe to say there won't be many Granite Citizens in Springfield this week-end rooting for the Tigers.

But good luck to them anyway.
NOTES: Monday's 9-1 win over Carbondale marked the third time in nine years Edwardsville has qualified for state. The Tigers are now 30-8. It's the first time they have ever won 30 games. They had 29 wins when Granite City KO'd them 4-1 in last year's regional final. Edwardsville will be up against a toughie in the quarterfinals at LaPlacer Park at 4 p.m. today. They face Joliet Catholic, a team with a 34-5 record and a 29-game winning streak. Adam Lynn will probably pitch, with Price ready to go in Friday morning's game.

able tournaments I've ever been involved with," said Dave Buehler, Shirley Byrd (youth director) and Tom Gray (manager) were all a big help.

"All of the other tournaments had been in the Chicago area until this one. We didn't know what kind of response we would get down there, but it was just great."

"The televised finals were wild and fun," said Buehler. "It was good for the area. We filled up the Best Western Motel out at (Illinois) 111 and (Interstate) 270. And we saw eye-to-eye with the Chicago people on just about everything. We're looking forward to getting another tournament here soon."

Bell, 19, a freshman at Mearns Community College, beat Rich Rogers, 17, a senior at O'Fallon High School, in the final match. Rogers had beaten three rivals in the championship round before falling to Bell.

Rogers topped Lana Marie Lavis, 18, of Mundelein, 211-175 in the first match of the championship round.

"We always assure that the top girl will make the televised finals," said Dow.

Rogers then topped Tony McChes, 20, of Chicago, 202-158 in the second match before routing Brian Neuzil, 19, of Bolingbrook, 221-129 in the third match. But Bell took top honors with a 211-180 win in the fourth and final match.
